

Unstructured

The `partition()` function is the universal entry point for document Processing in Unstructured. It automatically detects the file type and applies the appropriate Partitioning logic.

